

ICHRA 101

Personalized Benefits that Meet Your Needs

ICHRA (pronounced “ick-ruh”) stands for Individual Coverage Health Reimbursement Arrangement. In a nutshell, it’s a different kind of health reimbursement arrangement.

With ICHRA:

Your employer provides a set allowance each month that you get to spend on your own individual health insurance premium.

You get to choose which health insurance plan fits your needs best. No more getting the same plan options as everyone else - even if they’re not what you need.

If you choose a plan that’s less expensive than your employer allowance, there’s no additional cost to you.

If you choose a plan that’s more expensive than your employer allowance, the difference is deducted from your paycheck.

ICHRA plans are portable and can go with you if you change jobs.

ICHRA premiums are pre-taxed dollars.

FAQ

How does my health premium get paid?

When you sign up for an ICHRA health plan through your employer on benefitbay, you get a pre-funded account called an ARC (Advanced Reimbursement Checking). This account is to pay for your health plan, nothing else. You’ll set up autopay, so you don’t have to worry about remembering to pay your monthly premiums.

What kinds of plans can I choose from?

You’ll be able to choose from individual or family Health Insurance Marketplace plans available in your zip code. You’ll see the familiar Bronze, Silver, Gold, and Platinum tiers, as well as choices for HMOs, PPOs, and more. These choices make it easier to get just-right coverage.

What if I’m not happy with the plan I choose?

You can explore other options either during the next open enrollment, or if you experience a qualifying life event, such as marriage, adding dependents, or moving to a different coverage area. The benefitbay support team can walk you through it all and help you make changes.
